Initial Build Meeting Notes

Creative Director: Chelsea Lee
Designer: Grace Wang

- Everything is working quite well
- Maybe some contrast issues regarding the title on the home page
    - Either fill in the title or make the background lighter and the text color dark or the opposite (but I think that might be steering away from the light atmosphere)
- Try adding in a navigation bar (with a different color/transparent white) and move the “aya takano” at the top to the left and the nav elements to the right
- Do the same on the footer ^
    - I don’t know how to feel about the pattern for the footer (there also seems to be some contrast issues → maybe screenshot a pattern from her paintings and add a white overlay with dark footer text on top
    - Also make sure to add in where the content is sourced from!
- I think a pink and purple or purple and blue gradient for the text headers on each page will look better than the red and purple gradient
- All of the content is so vertically centered it’s missing a little whimsy.
    - Maybe play with columns and how information can look more full on each page by orienting multiple sections of content?

*Overall great progress! Just push the contrast as well as the composition!